About EMOM:

<https://electronicmusicopenmic.com/>

EMOM is an inclusive and dynamic event that provides a stage for electronic music creators of all levels. Whether you're an established artist or a bedroom experimentalist, EMOM welcomes you to share your ideas and music in a supportive and engaging environment. The event aims to foster a sense of community among electronic music makers and enthusiasts, encouraging collaboration and creativity. Performers each have a 15 minute slot in which they can present music, talk about production techniques, demonstrate a favourite piece of gear ... whatever they think might be interesting to a like-minded audience. The only official rule of EMOM is "no acoustic guitars" although at emom.sydney we're flexible about that if your act is in the spirit of the night and just happens to involve a stringed (or any other kind of acoustic) instrument!

About emom.sydney:

Finding the right venue is crucial for the success of EMOM, and we're thrilled to partner with Mothership, an artist-run space in Marrickville well known for its support of new and emerging artists. Mothership's General Manager Grac Franki said "Mothership has long been a home for Sydney's underground dance scene & emerging electronic music artists, and EMOM presents us with a unique opportunity to showcase this talent and help build local communities both here in Marrickville, and Sydney in general."

What to Expect:

Diverse Performances: Experience a wide range of electronic music genres, from ambient and techno to experimental and synth-pop.

Open Slots: Registrations open at 6pm on the night, anyone can rock up with something to show.
